CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Holiday and Storm Interrupt Local Business During the Week.

VOLUME IS GENERALLY SATISFACTORY

Wholesale Grocers Still Have Plenty, Hardware and Dry Goods Promise Well for Spring and Rubber Men Entertain Another Rush.

The intervention of a holiday in the middle of the week always has more or less effect upon trade, and Thanksgiving day this year was no exception to the general rule. A holiday generally benefits some and injures others. Thus Thanksgiving day is looked forward to with pleasure by the dealers in produce, especially poultry, and by all jobbers and retailers of confectionary, nuts and other fancy table goods. At the came time the custom of keeping stores closed on that day invariably reduces the week's volume of trade in dry goods, clothing and most all staple lines.

During the week just closed there was another potent influence, and that was the Owing to the fact that the street storm. Owing to the fact that the street cars did not run with any regularity for two days very few shoppers ventured out, and the retail houses looked rather vacant. At the same time the storm and severe cold weather had the usual effect of creating a large demand for all kinds of winter goods. Stove men, coal men and plumbers were rushed with orders the latter half of the week, while the retail stores were crowded with buyers of all kinds of winter wearing apparel. Considering the holiday and the days when no one could get down town by reason of the storm, the total volume of business for the week has been most satisfactory.

Wholesale Grocers Are Busy.

Wholesale Grocers Are Busy.

Wholesale Grocers Are Busy.

Trade with wholesale grocers was about the same last week as it has been for some time past. The volume of business continues to be fully as large, if not larger, than at any corresponding time in previous years. Prices were more steady last week than usual, few important changes being reported. Sugar advanced if the first part of the week, and the latter part slumped off 1-16c. Dried fruits are firm in price, but no quotable changes are reported. Practically none of the low grades are being offered at the present time, which helps to make prices firm. The Raisin Growers' association of California, is talking of advancing the price of raisins, and as the association has shown considerable strength throughout the season, no one would be surprised if quotations were raised. Farinaceous goods are all firm, but quotations are the same as a week ago. The cheese market is still on the upward grade, quotations ranging about ich higher than they were a week ago. The demand is unusually large this year for export as well as domestic trade, so the supply is hardly adequate to meet all needs. This applies more especially to Young Americas, but the market on twins is also very strong. In canned goods there is no change in the schedule of prices, but the demand is unusually large for this season of the year.

Hardware Moves Freely.

Hardware Moves Freely.

Considering the time of year and the condition of the weather trade with hardware jobbers last week was very, satisfactory. Retailers out through the state, generally speaking, are enjoying a nice business, which means an active trade with local jobbers. The general tone of the market is firm, but some weakening in nails and barbed wire is reported. This is due to a tendency on the part of jobbers to make a cut in prices and not to any weakness on the part of manufacturers. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in getting stove boards, in spite of the fact that this is the time of year when they should be most plentiful. It is probably due to the fact that the combination of manufacturers which was in existence last year, and which kept stove boards up to a fabulous price, is now extinct. As soon as the combination broke, prices fell off and production was slackened, which has resulted in the present shortage.

The weather during the last week has been very favorable to the movement of all kinds of winter goods, consequently the dry goods jobbers report some improvement in the volume of their business. The demand been very favorable to the movement of all kinds of winter goods, consequently the dry goods jobbers report some improvement in the volume of their business. The demand for underwear and hosiery has been especially heavy and the orders for these lines has been coming in rapidly from nearby points. Other classes of goods have also been in demand to make stocks complete, so trade in general has been very satisfactory. Traveling men continue to send in the most favorable reports regarding the outlook for spring business from every section of the west, so jobbers are making arrangements to handle even more trade next year than this. There is no doubt but what there is a growing sentiment among country merchants in the territory tributary to this market in favor of Omaha jobbers. It was only a few years ago that there was any number of retailers at no great distance who never thought of coming here for their supplies, but are now found here as regularly as the seasons come around. This is the most encouraging feature of the jobbing trade and gives some idea of what may be expected in the future.

Rubber Goods Wanted Quickly.

Rubber Goods Wanted Quickly.

There is nothing of much importance to report regarding the boot and shoe trade. as at this time of year, one week is very much like another. The weather during the last week has, of course, helped out the retailer, but jobbers have not as yet felt the change to any appreciable extent. The rubber trade on the other hand is all that could be asked for. Country merchants have found themselves caught in another storm without sufficient supplies of rubber goods and consequently rush orders have been coming in with every mail. Jobbers, however, were prepared for the rush of business, as they were expecting a repetition of the conditions that followed the snow storm in October, and fortunately, were not disappointed.

There was not much doing last week in the lumber market. The storm put a stop to building operations and kept the farmers from calling on the country retailers. As a result both the retail and jobbing trade was practically at a standstill. Local jobbers as a rule are not looking for much business from now on, as trade has been gradually falling off for some time, and there seems to be no reason for thinking that it will revive before the regular spring business opens up. Indications, however, are all favorable for a good trade in the spring so jobbers are well satisfied with provailing conditions.

The hide market advanced slightly last week owing to the apparent scarcity. Feccipts have increased somewhat of late, but are not as large as they should be at this season of the year. Little is being done as yet with furs. yet with furs.

Fruit and Produce.

Fruit and Produce.

Commission men report Thanksgiving trade as being only fair. The storm that set in early in the week delayed shipments of poultry and apparently in many cases prevented them from being made at all as receipts were unusually likat. The supply of turkeys was so short in fact that in many cases late arrivals were taken up at a considerable premium. There was a good demand for sweet potatoes at $1.50 per bariel, and also for celery at 25440 cents per bunch. In tropical fruits both lemons and oranges were ready sellers. Lemons are quoted all the way from $3.75 to $4.00, depending upon the quality. Both navel and teedling oranges are now on the tharket from northern California, the former lemg quoted at $4.25 and the latter at $3.55. Mexicans are also to be had at $4.00.

New York Catawba grapes are now about out of the market and California Tokays scarce, which leaves—only the Malages. These, however, are in road condition and are selling for $7.5008.09 per burch. California pears are also quite plentiful as yet and are quoted at $2.25.

The sensation of the week, however, was the arrival of several boxes of strawberries from Los Angeles. They were much better than the ones usually received at this time of year, as they were sound and had a good rich color. They were much better than the ones usually received at this time of year, as they were sound and had a good rich color. They arrived in time for Thanksgiving and were picked up at about $2.00.

Sents per basket.

Strictly fresh eggs are very scarce and what few can be found sell readily at 19 cents per basket.

Strictly fresh eggs are very scarce and what few can be found sell readily at 19 cents; gathered creamery, 20021 cents, and severator; 22 cents.

The demand for chickens, both live and dressed was very good all the week and is still, so prices are firm at present quotations. Turkeys, however are not as ready sellers as they were and commission men say it is difficult to get over 12 cents for them dressed. The premium they commanded jus

Wool Market.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—WOOL—In the wool market during the week there was more inquiry for merinos and fine crossbreds. Holders were firm and refused to sell unless at their own prices. Transactions were limited. The hetter grades of Cape of Good Hope and Natal were in demand.

Several parcels were sold at hardening rates, sourceds showing the best gains. The offerings next week amount to $5,350 bales. The imports during the week were: New South Wales, $2,244 bales; Queensland, $,233 bales; Melbourne, 6,339 bales; South Australia, 5,704 bales; New Castle, 7,255 bales; New Zealand, 3,419 bales; Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 1,102 bales; Singapore, 2,178 bales, and elsewhere, 444 bales.

Buils and stags sold well all the week, but toward the close there seemed to be most too many on hand and the market became a little slow. Veal calves sold readily at good strong prices.

The feeder market has been dead all this week, that is the situation briefly and truthfully told. Receipts have been the smallest in weeks, and yet there has been a great plenty of cattle here. Country buyers have been scarce and the total volume of business transacted during the six days has been extremely small, as compared with what it was three or four weeks ago. With few cattle for sale and with a very limited country demand the trade was featureless, except for the general tone of duliness that pervaded it from beginning to end. Representative sales:

whatever reached the yards. The arrivals consisted in large part of stockers and feeders, not of the most desirable kind, there being a good many old ewes among them. With such light receipts and poor quality to contend with it can hardly be said that a fair test was made of the market. Such sheep as would do for the killers sold, as a rule, quite readily and at gradually strengthening prices. Last week under the influence of the demoralization prevailing in the market at Chicago values here broke on an average of 25c. During this week 10c or 15c of this loss has been made up.

When it comes to feeders the market is very slow and has been fit that condition all the week. Buyers appear to have been scared out by the sharp break in mutton grades, and have accordingly held aloof, allowing the market to drag for the want of buying support. While buyers are to all appearances afraid that prices are not low enough to justify them in operating, it is to be doubted if the holders of feeding sheep will part with any great number even

BIG NEBRASKA FARMS. BIG NEBRASKA FARMS.

Butler County, noted for its rich loam soil and challenging to comparison any other section of the corn belt for seasonable rains, is attracting considerable attention now by reason of two extensive farms within its boundaries being offered for sale there at what is said to be extremely low figures considering the character of improvements and the quality of the soil.

One consists of a farm of 2,400 acres in one body, only one-half mile from railroad station. This farm, it is said, cannot be duplicated, either in the immensity of its mprovements for handling grain and live stock, or richness of its dark loam in any of the five great corn states.

The other farm consists of 1,440 acres only a short distance from a railroad station, with good improvements. This farm may more properly be called a ranch and is attracting the attention of many westers stockmen.

G. W. Carlock of the Karback block in this city is offering the properties for sale and will give out prices to intending purchasers.
